

Train Negotiations in Derailment Stall

WASHINGTON (AP) — With negotiations derailed by a continuing deadlock over work rules, the Labor Department has recessed joint talks indefinitely in a building railroad strike that may yet see congressional intervention.

Combined union-management negotiations were suspended indefinitely Monday with an announcement by W.J. Usery Jr., assistant secretary of labor, that "a voluntary solution cannot be reached at this time."

Usery indicated Sunday he thought a settlement might be near, but conceded after the talks broke off he had underestimated differences between the United Transportation Union and the four railroads over a work rule requiring crew changes every 100 miles.

Mediators planned to meet separately with management and union representatives today, but Usery was unwilling to predict when joint talks might resume.

There were indications, meanwhile, of mounting pressure for legislation to force an end to the strike that has closed down the Southern, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Norfolk and Western lines.

A Labor Department spokesman said the Nixon administration has refrained from seeking strike-ending legislation "because economic pressures have not been such to require legislation."

But Usery described the strike as most serious.

"It is doubly imperative in the race of mounting economic pressures," he said, "that an answer to this impasse be found."

The walkout already has affected approximately 20 per cent of the nation's rail cargo and tied up shipments of grain, coal, food and other goods in 17 states.

The UTU says it will strike six other railroads Friday: the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe; Alton & Southern; Houston Belt & Terminal; Duluth, Mesabi & Iron Range; Joliet & Eastern; and Bessemer and Lake Erie.

Five other lines scheduled for strikes Aug. 6 are the Baltimore & Ohio; Chesapeake & Ohio; Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific; Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific; and Missouri, Kansas and Texas.

Astronauts Preparing For Early Main Rocket Testing

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 15 astronauts successfully fired their main spacecraft engine for one second in a special test today, clearing the way for a lunar landing attempt on Friday.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 15 astronauts scheduled an early one-second burn of their main engine today to determine if they will be able to make a landing on the moon.

Mission Control Center set the firing for 2:05 p.m. EDT, some 2½ hours earlier than originally planned.

There is a short circuit somewhere in the engine-firing system. If the power plant fires despite the short, David R. Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden will be "go" for the lunar landing on Friday.

If there is no ignition, flight controller Glynn Lunney said they would probably conduct an alternate lunar orbit scientific mission.

Lunney was optimistic the firing would be successful. He gave it 3-to-1 odds, based on testing being conducted at the Manned Spacecraft Center here.

A flashing light on the cabin control panel alerted the astronauts to the possible problem shortly after they were launched from Cape Kennedy Monday on man's fourth lunar landing expedition.

The signal indicated that the large service propulsion system engine on the command ship had been armed and was ready for firing.

Lunney said there is no danger to the crew, that they have several backup engines to get them into lunar orbit and later home.

The short is in one of two electrical systems which can control the ignition. The second system is still in good operating condition and could be used for firing them out of lunar orbit to start them back to earth.

This second start system also could be used to carry out the full lunar landing mission, but mission rules dictate that such a risk should not be carried out without a backup.

Lunney said the firing would serve as a normal midcourse correction to steer Apollo 15 onto a more precise course to the moon.

He said it was moved up so that ground controllers would have more time to evaluate results. If the engine should fail, they would want to conduct the midcourse firing using the backup electrical system at the originally planned time of 4:29 p.m.

Livestock Destroyed In Blaze

An early morning fire Monday levelled a barn on the Lee Brainard farm, seven miles south of Sedalia on Highway 65, killing 17 calves and destroying about 12,000 bales of straw and 12 cattle feeders.

Brainard, Route 2, estimated the total loss at anywhere between $15,000 and $18,000.

The fire, of unknown origin, was sighted at 2:30 a.m. by a neighbor, Olyn Rugen, Route 1, who saw "flames gushing way up into the sky."

Rugen immediately called the Pettis County Fire department.

The 300 foot by 50 foot cattle barn was still smoldering at noon Tuesday despite a three-hour effort by county firemen.

The one-story structure was destroyed before firemen arrived on the scene, a fire department spokesman said.

Brainard, who returned at 10 a.m. Tuesday from a trip to Minneapolis, told The Democrat-Capital that he bought the farm in January and said the Holstein calves, valued at $100 each, were of milking age.

About six grain bins near the barn were also damaged, he said, but the grain was saved.

Brainard said no one lives on the farm.

Reach Agreement In Telegraph Tie

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agreement has been reached on a new two-year contract for 17,000 Western Union Telegraph Co. employees, ending a 57-day nationwide strike.

E.L. Hageman, president of the AFL-CIO United Telegraph Workers, said the contract, still subject to worker ratification, provides for a 19-per-cent boost in wages, plus benefits totaling another 4 per cent.

White House Policy Work Drawing Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., cited the foreign policymaking apparatus in the White House today as a prime example of how Congress is cut off from information for carrying out its responsibilities.

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, testifying at the start of hearings on presidential power to withhold information, took issue with the secrecy which cloaked the visit to Peking by Henry Kissinger to arrange for a trip to mainland China by President Nixon.

"The China visit provides a striking example of the way in which the new foreign policy apparatus in the White House circumvents the Congress," Fulbright told a Senate judiciary subcommittee on separation of powers.

He said it would have been "useful and appropriate" for Nixon through Kissinger, his national security adviser, to have consulted in advance with the Foreign Relations Committee which had been conducting hearings on China policy.

And Fulbright said, "It would now be useful and appropriate for Mr. Kissinger to report to the Foreign Relations Committee on his trip to Peking and to consult on substantive matters, such as the status of Taiwan, as these pertain to the President's forthcoming 'journey for peace.'"

Fulbright was the leadoff witness as the subcommittee began an inquiry into the practice of executive privilege.

British Woman, 28, In Atlantic Crossing

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Nicolette Milnes-Walker, a 28-year-old British psychologist who became the first woman to sail alone across the Atlantic nonstop, came ashore looking for "a bath, then a steak, then some sleep."

After 46 days afloat, the 5-foot-1 mini-skirted sailor — who had never spent more than two days alone in a boat before — felt earth beneath her feet for the first time at 4:05 p.m. Monday when she arrived at the Port O'Call Marina.

A light rain was falling as a Coast Guard utility boat towed her 30-foot sloop the last eight miles to shore.

Her parents, Henry and Mary Milnes-

Walker, greeted her. They had arrived in Newport last Tuesday to wait for Nicolette and were joined by some 50 cheering onlookers as she stepped down the gangway.

Nicolette last saw her parents June 12 when she left the port of Dale on the tip of Wales.

Her father said he and his wife "had no more worry than any parent" concerning the safety of their daughter.

Nicolette said she was in danger only once, when she ran into a two-day storm about two weeks ago and 500 miles from her goal.

Employees' Walkout Logjams Production

Ken Swanson, manager of Swift & Co. Dairy and Poultry Plant, said early Tuesday afternoon that the walkout by 40 plant employees had been settled and that work production had returned to normal.

About 40 workers walked off their jobs at the Swift & Co. Dairy and Poultry Plant, 226 West Pacific, at 10 a.m. Tuesday, claiming they had been thwarted in attempts to negotiate a 15-cent an hour pay raise with plant management.

A spokesman for the non-union workers, Katie Clark, 300 West Pettis, told The Democrat-Capital she and others had tried to talk with management, specifically plant manager Ken Swanson, but had been told to check with him at a later date until he could be advised from Chicago on how to negotiate worker's demands.

Swanson said he had no comment.

The workers said they would continue their walkout as long as necessary, saying that support for the action among hangers and production line workers was unanimous.

About 30 employees in the production line and seven hangers were taking part in the walkout, bringing plant output of turkeys butchered and cleaned for market to a virtual standstill. Approximately 4,200 turkeys were backed up on the plant's lot Tuesday morning.

Workers involved in the walkout say they are employed during the season, from March to December. Several employees said Tuesday the work load has increased over the years, but that the number of employees has remained relatively steady.

Currently, the average wage for production line workers is $2, while hangers make $2.10. Workers said they are paid overtime when applicable, with a normal work shift lasting from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m.

One plant supervisor told The Democrat-Capital Tuesday's walkout was the first in his 30 years of experience at the plant.

Seek Boundary Extension

Several new programs were discussed Monday night during a meeting of the State Fair Community College Board of Trustees, including a possible extension of the school's district to encompass Whiteman AFB.

Fred Davis, SFCC president, told the board that he was contacted by the base Officer of Education concerning the establishment of teaching facilities on the base.

The only problem Davis said, is an opinion issued by Attorney General John C. Danforth saying a community college cannot go outside its district. However, no court ruling has ever been made prohibiting a college from pursuing such an action. Davis told the board that the proposal would be investigated further.

Davis also informed the board that SFCC is being considered for a teacher intern program. While attending a three day conference at the University of Michigan, the SFCC president was informed that the university had been granted an opportunity to train teachers for community colleges.

The university is interested in placing an intern at SFCC, Davis said. William Hopkins, president of the board of trustees, stated that he felt it was "quite an honor for the college to be one of eight out of 15,000 community colleges in the country to be considered" for such a project.

The board voted to fund a waiter and waitress training program. The course is designed not only to help people working in local restaurants, but employees of the state fair as well. Currently 35 to 40 people are enrolled in the program. All funds are to be refunded by the State Department of Education, it was reported.

A plan was adopted to hire security guards to patrol the SFCC campus during the state fair. Security has not been a problem during the fair in the past but board members approved the idea as a precautionary measure.

On the recommendation of President Davis the following instructors were hired: Lorraine Nieder for French III and IV;

Wilbur Gunier, wildlife conservation; and Donald Barnes, business law. All three will be employed as part-time personnel in the academic division. In the vocational — technical division, David L. Gillespie will be employed as a full-time electronics instructor.

In other action the trustees approved the installation of shelving to accommodate the needs of students in the drawing and design classes and the annual report of the Practical Nursing Program was discussed.

Before adjourning, the board examined one aspect of the school's financing. Hopkins distributed charts which showed the board where the school's federal funds are coming from. By the end of 1972 it is estimated that the college will have received $835,747 in federal money since it opened its doors to students in 1968. Hopkins pointed to the economic value of these funds to the community. "Virtually 100 per cent of the money stays in this area," Hopkins said.

Big Anti-Lockheed Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators opposed to government aid for Lockheed Aircraft Corp. have scored two impressive victories, indicating President Nixon's request to grant the company $250 million in federal loan backing may be in deep trouble.

With surprising ease, Lockheed opponents led by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., defeated the first attempt Monday to limit debate.

They beat back an effort to kill an amendment removing favored status for Lockheed from a bill to rescue any major business in financial trouble.

That amendment was pending before the Senate today although Lockheed backers appear unlikely to allow a vote soon. Evidently sensing its passage they blocked a direct vote Monday night.

Both Proxmire and the administration's chief spokesman, Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said Lockheed supporters came off far worse than either expected in the vote on limiting debate. The vote was 47 against cutting off debate and 42 for, 18 votes shy of the needed two-thirds.

Although cloture often fails on the first try, those seeking to end a filibuster usually muster at least a majority.

Tower said 12 senators had told him they would switch to the administration in the next effort Wednesday. He said if cloture fails then, successive attempts will be made through next Tuesday when, he said, it might be too late to get legislation enacted before the congressional recess starts Aug. 6.

The House, with an identical bill before it, begins debate Friday but chances for Lockheed aid look better there.

Lockheed says it must have help in completing its 400-passenger TriStar airbus before the recess or it may go broke and be forced to lay off thousands of workers.

Senate refusal by a 45-36 vote to table an amendment by Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., was an unexpected blow to Lockheed.

Under the bill before the Senate, which was broadened from an original request for specific Lockheed aid, a three-man board would have authority to grant up to $250 million for any big business in trouble.

The board, however, would have to give Congress 20 days' notice of a pending guarantee with either chamber then having the right to veto it. To protect Lockheed, the Senate Banking Committee made this provision effective Oct. 1 so the company would not be subjected to another round in the House and Senate if the legislation were enacted.

Television On Apollo Anticipated

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Apollo 15, scheduled to land beside the moon's Hadley Rille, will last longer, range farther and send back more spectacular television pictures than any previous moon expeditions.

After landing in the Apennine Mountains Friday, astronauts David R. Scott and James B. Irwin will ride their lunar rover across an area of about 25 miles in three separate excursions.

The lunar rover is equipped with a color television camera that has a self-contained power pack and antenna. ABC, CBS and NBC plan extensive coverage of all the activities during the 12-day journey.

The Apollo rocket lifted off with flawless precision Monday morning and in the cloudless sky, the space ship could be seen 275 miles down range until it had virtually reached orbital altitude. It was in view for six minutes, the longest time a rocket had ever been seen down range.

NBC estimated that more than 25 million people saw the liftoff.

Two moon rides will be televised Saturday and Sunday at times that will insure a large audience around the world. The pictures will go by satellite to Europe, Japan and South America. The third moon ride comes early Monday morning a few hours before the astronauts leave the moon.

If all goes well, the most spectacular pictures will be the first view of a launch from the moon. The liftoff is set for between 1:13 p.m. EDT Monday.

"We hope to park the rover about 300 feet uprange and show the liftoff," said Sam Russell, an RCA systems engineer who helped build the $100,000 camera. This new camera, mounted on the rover, will show more detail and is designed to eliminate the ghosts seen in past moon walks. It also can be pointed directly into the sun without being knocked out, as happened to the Apollo 12 camera in November 1969.

The rover camera can be completely controlled from earth, leaving the astronauts free for other duties. Each time the vehicle stops, an astronaut need only aim the umbrella-like antenna at the earth.

Even after the spacemen leave the moon, the camera will be of value. It will have power to operate for several weeks, Russell said. "There is an eclipse of the sun by the earth on Friday Aug. 6. The camera can look at the sun and the reflection of the sunlight will give the earth a reddish ring."

New Airport Plan Drawing Revealed

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A new plan surfaced Monday for building a second major St. Louis area airport in Missouri rather than across the Mississippi River near Waterloo, Ill.

Ronald Moore, the state airport engineer, said Missouri officials will propose a special St. Louis area airport district with tax powers to build and operate the second airport.

Moore said preliminary plans call for voters in the city of St. Louis and the counties of St. Louis, St. Charles, Jefferson and Franklin to create the district and set a tax rate of from five to ten cents.

The state engineer said studies indicate that sites near Dardenne in central St. Charles County and at Smart Field, the St. Charles municipal airport, would be at least as good as the Waterloo location supported by mayor Alfonso Cervantes of St. Louis and Illinois Gov. Richard Ogilvie.

Supervisor Lawrence K. Roos of St. Louis County said Monday night that the county's legal department has worked with the state on the proposal as one alternative for sponsoring and financing a Missouri site.

Cervantes said, however, "We're going ahead with our plans."

"We feel that is best for the city of St. Louis and feel that the airlines and FAA, people who know, are with us," Cervantes said.

Moore outlined the new plan Monday for the transportation task force of the Regional Forum, the citizens arm of the bi-state East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

He said that if the new airport is built near Waterloo, Missouri stands to lose about $30 million a year in tax revenue, up to $700 million a year from the sale of goods and services and about 43,000 jobs.

"How can we in Missouri sit back and let it go to Illinois?" he asked.

Moore said a $120,000 site study and proposals for financing are expected to be announced Aug. 18. He said the creation of a district would first require action by the legislature and then a referendum, a process Moore said could be finished by spring.

Arven Saunders, executive director of the St. Louis Metropolitan Area Airport Authority and a task force member, questioned whether a referendum would not delay the airport project for a year or two.

He noted that several studies have been completed on the Waterloo site, environmental impact hearings will be held next month, $15 million for land acquisition is to be included in an Illinois transportation bond issue and $1.5 million has been appropriated for operation of the authority.

St. Louis Hotel Will Close

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Ambassador Hotel — "a grand old lady" that has become "as crochety as a human being" — will close its doors for the last time Sept. 15, the management said Monday.

The 67-year-old hotel, which opened the year of the St. Louis World's Fair, was the scene of a May 14 fire that killed four persons and injured 10 others.

Hotel Manager Martin Hartman said the fire was not the only factor in the closing but noted that it "created a terrible burden upon an already sagging structure."

"We've been talking about closing it for years," Hartman said. "This building is a grand old lady. It was the most elegant of hotels. But it is difficult to maintain. It's as crochety as a human being."

He said the management has found new homes in other hotels for most of the Ambassador's elderly residents.

The hotel, which is located near Forest Park, was known originally as the Buckingham. It later became the Buckingham Annex to the Chase Hotel for permanent residents. At one point, it also was called the Hotel Kings-way.

The Ambassador has been hit by fire before. In 1927, seven residents of the hotel were killed. And in 1960, seven guests were injured in a fire that caused $100,000 damage.

Bon Vivant Bankruptcy Is Expected

NEWARK (AP) — Bon Vivant Soups, Inc., plans to reorganize under federal bankruptcy laws following a federal recall of its entire line of canned food.

The recall, ordered July 7 by the Food and Drug Administration, stemmed from the death June 30 of a Westchester County, N.Y. man from botulism poisoning.

The man died and his wife became temporarily paralyzed after they ate a can of Bon Vivant's vichyssoise.

A petition filed Monday in the bankruptcy division of federal court did not mention the company's problems with the FDA, which has recalled 34 products marketed by Bon Vivant under private labels.

The poisoning is caused by botulin bacteria which can be killed in canned food by extensive heating. In its investigation, the FDA determined several cans of Bon Vivant vichyssoise had been undercooked.

The recall was stepped up July 23 after undercooking was found in five more cans of soup. The court petition said the company "is unable to meet its obligations as they mature."

The company said it would need at least 10 days to prepare a complete list of financial schedules so that arrangements can be made with creditors and debtors.

Political Undertones To Trafficking Charge

SAIGON (AP) — Recent charges against Maj. Gen. Ngo Dzu of drug trafficking and corruption were part of a devious political plot to bolster sagging support for President Nguyen Van Thieu, highly placed American sources report.

The idea was to clear the way for a three-way shift in military commanders that would improve Thieu's campaign prospects in the Mekong Delta. But somebody torpedoed the plot by leaking the charges prematurely.

Although he has a firm grip on all the levers of power, Thieu reportedly has begun to recognize the possibility that he could lose the presidential election Oct. 3. He apparently has been surprised at the amount of backing Gen. Duong Van Minh is getting among Buddhists in the northern part of the country and by the extent to which the military is lining up behind Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

As a result Thieu is said to believe that he must win the election by getting an overwhelming majority of votes in the southern provinces, especially in the rural areas of the populous Mekong Delta.

The commander of Military Region 4, which encompasses the Delta, is Maj. Gen. Ngo Quang Truong. He is considered probably the most able and honest field commander in South Vietnam. But Truong has proved apolitical and has not sent his division and battalion commanders, or the province chiefs and district chiefs in his region out to stump for Thieu.

The president reportedly wants to replace Truong with a man ardently devoted to Thieu's political cause, possibly Maj. Gen. Nguyen Vinh Nghi, now commander of the 21st Division. But to demote Truong to a less important command or to give him a desk job in Saigon would cause widespread dissent—possibly even rebellion—among the military.

The sources say Thieu planned to remove Dzu on charges of drug trafficking, but someone—apparently a Vietnamese trying to sabotage Thieu's plan—leaked the information to Rep. Robert H. Steele during the Connecticut Republican's visit to Saigon to investigate the drug situation among U.S. forces.

Scientists estimate that about 80 per cent of the world's supply of natural fresh water is locked in the South Pole's ice cap.

ACLU Files Suit Against Flag Laws

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The American Civil Liberties Union has filed a suit on behalf of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War with attacks the legality of Kansas City's law on desecration of the flag.

The suit is an outgrowth of the arrest on July 4th of John R. Smith of New Haven, Conn. Police said Smith carried a flag in a demonstration by the veterans group and refused police orders to turn it right side up. He was charged with desecration of the flag and refusal to obey a police order. The charges ultimately were dropped.

The suit asks that city officials be enjoined from using the ordinance to intervene in gatherings or demonstrations.

The suit also contends that police surveillance of dissident groups abridges their constitutional rights and asked that it be forbidden.

Wife 'Races' After Husband

By GINGER MOORE
Women's Editor

Driving one million miles in 35 years with a husband sounds like a lot to ask of even the most loyal and loving wife, but Mrs. Al Sweeney says she's "enjoyed every minute of it." "I even helped drive every other 100 miles," she said.

Mrs. Sweeney is the wife of Al Sweeney, president of National Speedways Inc., who travels from Florida to Minnesota and back every year organizing International Motor Contest Assn. sanctioned races.

The Sweeney's met at a six-day bicycle race and have been on the racing circuit of some kind ever since. Following their marriage, the couple lived in Chicago where Mrs. Sweeney was a school teacher.

A teacher for 25 years, Mrs. Sweeney recalls the first years of their marriage, which were during the depression years, as very lean. "After receiving one check for teaching, for the next three years all Chicago teachers received were 'script' which was good in a limited number of stores." According to Mrs. Sweeney, formal strikes as are held today weren't organized then because teachers were considered "professionals" and above labor strikes.

After three years, Mrs. Sweeney went to work with other teachers to organize what is now the Chicago teacher's union. Through the work of Mrs. Sweeney and others, the schools received federal aid which enabled them to pay the teachers regularly.

During her 25 year teaching tenure, Mrs. Sweeney followed her husband on weekends and summers. However, eight years ago when she retired from teaching she began to travel with him regularly. And, according to Mr. Sweeney, she is now his "right hand."

"I couldn't do without her," said Mr. Sweeney. She acts as official scorer and timekeeper and although she had never seen an automobile race before meeting her husband, she now thoroughly enjoys the racing circuit.

"I was forced into scoring one evening when the scorer got sick and have been doing it ever since," she says. "I really enjoy it now, but at first I was scared I would make an error."

Although Mrs. Sweeney has never driven a race car on the track, her husband calls her a "real speedster." "One night she was driving a new Avanti and was stopped by a trooper for going 102 mph," Mrs. Sweeney quickly countered with, "It was only 93 mph."

The Sweeney's do a great deal of their traveling by car during the four month racing season. This year they will attend some 85 races in fourteen states. On one occasion they drove 800 miles from Minnesota to Illinois for races only 19 hours apart.

Although they travel a great deal by car, the Sweeney's enjoy traveling by train, plane and boat and have toured a great deal of this country, the Caribbean and Europe. "We enjoy meeting people and seeing other racing events," said Mrs. Sweeney.

Although Mrs. Sweeney is an inveterate traveler, she also loves to cook and entertain for dozens of people in their Tampa, Fla., home. Her specialty is quail in wine sauce which she fixes in quantities up to 125 at a time. Her husband calls her a "real gourmet" and says no one can match her preparation of corn beef and cabbage.

The Sweeney's eat out a lot, due to their traveling and sometimes travel an extra 50 miles to go to a restaurant they especially enjoy. "Most places never serve vegetables," says Mrs. Sweeney. "They think all a person wants is steak and potatoes."

Her culinary triumph is an annual press dinner held in December. "I work for nearly three weeks preparing for the dinner," she said. She does all the food preparation herself including steak, Swedish meatballs and other delicacies like her quail.

When asked about encouraging other women to travel with their husbands, Mrs. Sweeney said, "by all means." "A wife can ease many of the tensions her husband has to face while traveling and can very often help them solve some of their daily problems."

Asked her technique for managing to work so well with her husband and the other men in the racing business, Mrs. Sweeney said, "it's easy, I just use the same technique I used in handling school children."

About Town

The 11th annual Anderson family reunion was held recently in Liberty Park. A contributive dinner was held and the afternoon was spent visiting.

Mrs. Leland Coontz, Sr., 1000 East 11th, had as recent guests her grandchildren, Melanie, Elaine and Leland Coontz III of Orange, Calif.

The annual Witzke family reunion was held Sunday at Liberty Park. A basket dinner was served at noon and a business meeting followed.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Retherford, Route 2, were recently visited by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Buchanan, Cerritos, Calif.

Discuss Scoring

Mr. and Mrs. Al Sweeney look over the scoring forms to be used in the upcoming Missouri State Fair races. Mrs. Sweeney is, according to her husband, right hand man for the races. "She acts as secretary, scorer, timekeeper, and any other job that needs doing." That's high praise coming from a man married 39 years and whose wife has traveled more than a million miles with him. # Make Love Seat From Baby Bed

By POLLY CRAMER
Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I would like to know how to remove layers of old paint from an old iron baby bed before I repaint it. When it is refinished, I am going to use this bed as a love seat, make big pillows for the ends and one side and drop the other side down low. — DIANA

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is that every time I think of something I hope will make the column somebody else beats me to it. An example is the one about using newspaper under the paper towel for draining bacon. I have been doing that for years and was just ready to send it in when there it was in the paper. — MRS. M. M. C.

DEAR POLLY — Like Marie I, too, have a window over my bathtub. She needs the window and should not remove it but should use it. Keep it open just a wee bit at all times to take care of the ventilation and only close it when taking a bath. Remove that Venetian blind and the plastic window curtain, then give the window a good soap-and-water washing. Put up only the sheerest of curtains and apply adhesive-backed paper in a frosted glass pattern to the window panes for privacy. Mine is done that way and looks so clean, is private and, best of all, the light comes in, too. — ANTOINETTE

DEAR POLLY — Having the same mildew problem as Marie I scrubbed the frame to the window over my tub with a fairly strong solution of bleach and water to remove the mold. Weekly applications of a spray disinfectant and proper ventilation help to keep it under control. In summer, I leave the window open a few inches and the bathroom door closed from the rest of our air-conditioned house. In winter, I leave the door open a few inches most of the time and particularly after the tub has been used.

I replaced my Venetian blind with draw curtains made from a striped sheet so laundering is easy. If the shower water hits the window, Marie should install an attachment to the shower head that will direct the water lower and more to the center of the tub. She could not remove the window unless she had a ventilating fan installed and a windowless bathroom would certainly be dark and gloomy. — MRS. L. E. K.

DEAR POLLY — Thank goodness for some place to let off steam about my Pet Peeve concerning permanently pressed clothes. At first they were great and every piece came out beautifully. Now I am lucky if one thing out of 10 is really permanently pressed. I know, for I wash for three grown sons and a husband who all wear dress shirts every day. It is not the method of laundering that I use as one-third come out nice and the rest are a mess. — MRS. A. K.

Folding Problem

For Mapmakers

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Wayne McCroskey, vice president of Gateway Press in Louisville which has printed 250,000 of the state's 1971 official road maps, said costs ran approximately 5.8 cents per map mainly because he was directed to fold them in accordion fashion instead of simply in halves.

The method takes more time, McCroskey said, but he noted that the next batch of maps will be folded in the simpler manner and will cost about 3.5 cents apiece.

Sappers Damage 'Copters

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong sappers slipped into a major allied base 30 miles north of Saigon early today, blew up four American helicopters valued at more than $1.5 million dollars and damaged a fifth chopper.

"They came right through the wire," said one sergeant at the Lai Khe base camp. "They made a clean escape as far as we know."

The sergeant said two Americans were slightly wounded. There were no South Vietnamese casualties, the government said.

Field reports said two AH1 Cobra gunships and two OH6 light observation helicopters were destroyed and a Cobra gunship was damaged.

No one on the big base even saw the sappers, according to one enlisted man. They hurled satchel charges into the helicopters. The Lai Khe camp was turned over to the South Vietnamese 5th Infantry Division last year when the U.S. 1st Infantry Division was withdrawn from combat. But elements of the U.S. 1st Aviation Brigade are stationed there, and military spokesmen in Saigon said the perimeter was guarded by both South Vietnamese and American forces when the sappers moved onto the base undetected about 3:30 a.m.

It was the third attack in less than two weeks on a U.S. helicopter compound.

Viet Cong saboteurs also were active on the central coast. The U.S. Command reported that three empty storage barges were sunk in Qui Nhon harbor by three explosions believed to be mines planted by Viet Cong frogmen.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam, only small and scattered skirmishes were reported.

In Cambodia, more than 5,000 Cambodian troops backed by gunboats and dive bombers launched a rainy season drive to cut one of the Communists' most important infiltration and supply routes, the Cambodian Command reported.

Breaking a month-long monsoon lull in military activity throughout Cambodia, Operation Kangrey is aimed against an estimated 1,000 enemy soldiers in the marshy region east of the Tonle Sap River and just south of the city of Kimpung Chang, about 40 miles north of the Cambodian capital, the spokesman said.

One of the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong's most important supply routes runs through this region on the way to the mountain sanctuaries southwest of Phnom-Penh.

"Our troops have cut one corridor along the Tonle Toch River," Lt. Col. Am Rong told reporters. "Now we are going to cut the other corridor."

Roll Call Decision

The Senate then, on a 45-38 roll call, defeated a motion to table an amendment that would have knocked Lockheed out of the bill to rescue major failing businesses.

The vote included: Republicans for tabling — Bellmon, Okla.; Miller, Iowa; Pearson, Kan.; Curtis, Neb. Democrats against tabling — Eagleton, Mo.; Harris, Okla.; Hughes, Iowa.

Grandson Of Boss Tells All

WASHINGTON (AP) — The self-described grandson of a Mafia don, breaking the traditional silence of organized crime in a flood of words, gave senators today names of men he said are kingpins in illegal gambling, loan sharking and traffic in stolen credit cards and securities.

Vincent C. Teresa, 42, chuckled as he said he once kept a man-eating piranha in a fishbowl to convince his Boston gambling customers he ran a tough outfit.

Now serving a five-year sentence for interstate transportation of stolen securities, the fat and jovial Teresa sketched the framework of an international gambling and criminal empire for members of the Senate investigations subcommittee.

Teresa, who said he first got into the trouble with the law in the seventh grade, said Meyer Lansky owns part of the George Raft gambling casino in London and remains the No. 1 figure in international criminal gambling.

And he suggested that the late, Joe Valachi, who told his own story of the underworld before the same subcommittee a decade ago, may not have been correct in every detail.

He agreed the word 'Mafia' isn't used much any more. But he added: "I never heard the term 'Cosa Nostra' until Joe Valachi used it."

"But there is one big gang that runs organized crime in this country," Teresa said. "We generally call it 'The Mob.'"

"New young people who become members call it 'The Outfit.' In Providence, which is headquarters for New England, they call it 'The Office.' It has many different names—the 'organization,' the 'syndicate,' are a number of others."

Woman Battling 'Mrs.' Prefix

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Bella Abzug is asking Congress to declare war on the sex prefix.

The New York Democrat, wife of a stockbroker, is doing her thing for women's liberation by preceding her signature with "Ms." She figures that can be taken for Mrs. or Miss if reference must be made at all.

But women, she said, should be considered as "individuals and not as wives of individuals."

"Women are harassed daily by government interrogations as to their marital status," she told the House. "Thus, the thousands of government forms which make up red tape require women to designate Miss or Mrs., while men, apparently, are sufficiently described by the term Mr."

Each time a woman is required to designate either Mrs. or Miss, "she is reminded that

Baltimore Convict

Escaped For Device

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A convict from Baltimore who says he escaped to dramatize an invention is being held in jail on a kidnapping charge.

Warren George Briggs, 34, faces a preliminary hearing Friday before a federal magistrate. He was arraigned Monday and a public defender was assigned to help him.

Briggs is charged with kidnapping a truck driver near Marion, Ill., on July 21. He escaped in a hail of bullets two days earlier from the federal maximum security prison at Marion. The convict forced the truck driver to give him a ride to St. Louis.

Briggs surrendered to the FBI in Kansas City on Saturday. He says he has devised a cheap way to remove the salt from sea water.

Youth Survives Plunge Into Water

LAKE OZARK, Mo. (AP) — A 19-year-old member of the Ozark Water Ski Thrill Show is scheduled to re-join the troupe following a harrowing escape.

David Dunkley of Gravois Mills, Mo., performed his kite-flying act on skis Monday afternoon. He was being towed along about 10 feet above the water when a sudden gust of wind zoomed the kite to about 100 feet.

Another member of the show, Perry Cole of Gravois Mills, said the kite and Dunkley went into a barrel roll as they began to descend. Dunkley cut loose from the kite and dropped into the water from about 60 feet.

He was pulled out by others in the show, rushed to a nearby clinic and released after being held about three hours for observation. Dunkley expects to rejoin the show today or Wednesday.

Says Excess Of Power Is Very Evident

(Democrat-Capital Service)

HIGGINSVILLE — "Excess of power and abuse of power prevail too much in Missouri today," Rep. George W. Parker, R-Columbia, said at the annual Lafayette County GOP picnic here Sunday.

Parker is a candidate for state treasurer.

He also attacked what he called Missouri's "outdated legislature," the power of committee chairmen in both the House and Senate and the failure to pass legislation "this year that would have corrected obvious abuses of power."

As corrective measures, Parker said, voters should take a more active interest in politics. "Free government requires active citizens," he said.

Ann Landers

Ann Gives Rules On Delinquents

Dear Ann Landers: My wife and I were so pleased when you reprinted your Twelve Rules for Rearing Children. We would be grateful if you would run once again your "Helpful Hints On How To Bring Up Delinquents." We have kept a copy of that column which appeared ten years ago and every word of it is as true now as it was then. Thank you. — Middleville, Michigan.

Dear M.M.: Thanks for asking. Here it is:

1. Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. He will then grow up to believe the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. He will think he is cute. It will encourage him to think up "cute" words and phrases that will blow off the top of your head later.

3. Never give him any spiritual training. When he is 21 let him decide for himself what he wants to be. (Don't be surprised if he decides to be "nothing.")

4. Avoid the word "wrong." It might develop a guilt complex. A few years later, when he is arrested for stealing a car, he will feel that society is against him and that he is being persecuted.

5. Pick up after him. This means wet towels, books, shoes and clothing. Do everything for him. He will then become experienced in evading responsibility and incapable of finishing any task.

6. Let him see everything, hear everything and read everything smutty he can get his hands on. Make sure the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized but let his mind feed on garbage.

7. If you have a serious conflict in opinion with your spouse, fight it out in front of the children. It's good for youngsters to view their parents as human beings who express themselves freely and openly. Later, if you get divorced, they'll know what caused it.

8. Give your children all the spending money they want. After all, one of the reasons you have worked so hard all your life is to make life easier for your children. Why should they have it as rough as you did?

9. Satisfy his every craving for food, drink, and comfort. See that his every desire is satisfied. Denial might lead to harmful frustration.

10. Take your child's part against neighbors, teachers, and friends. This will prepare you to take his part against the police.

11. When he gets into serious trouble, apologize for yourself by saying, "I can't understand why he turned out like this. We gave him EVERYTHING."

12. Prepare for a life of grief. You are apt to have it.

Dear Ann Landers: Instead of playing bridge last night we played "Ann Landers," which I invented. I went over a stack of newspapers and clipped your column. I pasted the best questions and answers on separate cards with matching numbers to identify them as mates. The men challenged the women and the side that came up with the answers closest to yours won. I was Ann Landers and I kept your answer hidden until everyone had his say. Then I read it aloud. You'd be surprised at how many times the men did not agree with the women!

It was a great evening, Ann, a truly novel way to get people to open up. Some of their answers were hilarious! I hope you don't mind. — D. C. (Mount Dora, Florida).

Dear Dora: Not at all! Be my guest!

Do you feel ill at ease ... out of it? Is everybody having a good time but you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet "The Key To Popularity," enclosing with your request 35c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. (c) 1971 Publishers-Hall Syndicate

Cyclist Finishes Nationwide Trip

MEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — After 34 days and a dozen flat tires, John Fay peddled up to his parents' home Sunday at the end of a 3,500-mile bicycle ride from San Francisco.

"It just came on me as something to do," explained the 25-year-old Fay, who had been working as an antipoverty volunteer in Oakland, Calif. He started the trip June 23.

"It was a fantastic experience, the greatest experience of my life," he said. "You learn a few lessons, living with yourself first of all, and all the different people you meet."

Fay said the toughest part was the long climb up the Rocky Mountains and the Sierras.

"But on the other side, I sat back and enjoyed it—36 miles downhill."

Diabetics Have Need For Extra Insulin

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Would you please explain the symptoms of diabetes and the normal blood sugar?

Dear Reader — I'll use the classic form of diabetes to make matters simpler. First let me say that a lot of diabetics do not have symptoms. There are at least as many people with diabetes with no symptoms as there are with symptoms.

In the classic form there is not enough insulin manufactured by small glands located in the pancreas. Insulin is a hormone and is necessary to metabolize the glucose sugar in the blood. All foods, fats, proteins and carbohydrates are eventually converted to glucose before they are burned into carbon dioxide and water to provide energy for the body.

Without enough insulin to burn the glucose, more and more of it accumulates in the bloodstream, elevating the blood sugar. This is why properly done blood sugar tests can be used to diagnose diabetes. Whenever any normal person eats carbohydrates, particularly pure sugar, the blood sugar level rises, but within limited amounts and it soon falls to lower levels because of the action of insulin. In the diabetic the level of blood sugar rises higher and stays up longer than in normal people.

When the blood sugar gets too high a lot of sugar is spilled out in the urine. Hence urine tests for sugar content are used as a way to detect diabetic suspects.

In diabetes, since the blood sugar level is high, as the disease progresses more and more is lost in the urine. This means less of all the food the diabetic eats can be converted to glucose and burned for energy. This in turn leads to loss of energy (fatigue) and loss of weight. While an early diabetic may be overweight, as the disease progresses and lots of the food value is lost as sugar in the urine, weight loss while eating a lot of food is common.

The large amount of sugar spilled in the urine takes with it a lot of water. This causes another symptom, passing lots of urine, and usually frequently. This may also occur at night if lots of urine is passed. The large volume of urine passed each day must be replaced by drinking more water, hence another symptom, thirst and drinking lots of water.

As the disease progresses with time, the kidneys may be damaged. The circulation may also be damaged and there are complications like increased likelihood of having boils and in women problems of inflammation of the vagina with yeast or fungus infections.

The loss of sugar in the urine in large amounts then creates a typical picture of eating a lot in the face of weight loss, fatigue, passing lots of urine, thirst and drinking lots of water. If permanent damage from complications has not occurred, giving insulin corrects most symptoms.

Keep Technology Alive and Active

America's abandonment of the supersonic transport may or may not have been wise. But any idea that this country's progress in aircraft technology has now stopped, that we've gone as far as we can go, couldn't be more wrong.

Jet transports envisioned for the 1975-85 decade will be faster, quieter and more comfortable than today's airliners. They'll be lighter, cheaper to build and operate and fly faster and farther with bigger payloads on less fuel. And they'll emit fewer pollutants.

"These are some of the qualities we plan to design into the future transport, based on current and projected advances in the art," says Ken Carline, manager of General Dynamics Corporation's advanced transport technology program in Fort Worth, funded by a $1-million contract from National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Tomorrow's transport will probably cruise at 660 miles an hour, just under the speed of sound at 40,000 feet. That's about 100 miles an hour faster than the cruise speed of today's long-range jets. It would reduce the time for a transatlantic flight from seven to six hours.

The key to this advance is a new "supercritical" wing design. Instead of being curved on top and flat on bottom like today's airfoil, the supercritical wing will be relatively flat on top and curved on bottom.

Wings, tail surfaces and possibly the fuselage of the advanced transport will be made of graphite epoxy composite, a material that is much lighter than aluminum, yet as strong.

By using composites, says Carline, "we can 'mold' large sections of the aircraft in much the same way that you would make a plastic boat. Parts would be made from the outside shell inwards, rather than the present way of riveting a skin on the outside of a skeleton."

This construction method would reduce the airplane's weight by as much as 20 per cent and cut costs.

Composite wings, combined with advanced flight-control systems, could make air travel much smoother for the passenger of the 1980 era. Sensors in the flight-control system would detect turbulence and automatically command the wings to compensate by bending — rolling with the punch, so to speak.

Manufacturers are also making headway in developing engines that will give off less pollutants.

It all sounds great. You can still plan, however, on leaving home at least an hour before flight time to struggle through ground traffic on the way to the airport.

WASHINGTON — Rep. Robert Steele, R-Conn., who came back from Vietnam with reports of a 10 per cent GI drug addiction rate, was called a "liar" and compared to a "moron" by the White House's number two narcotics expert, brash 28-year-old Jeff Donfeld.

Donfeld, a former escort of Tricia Nixon and who also once worked in Nixon's law firm, recently visited Vietnam to study drugs.

He came up with a rate well below Steele's 10 per cent. At a White House briefing for 48 congressional interns from Steele's home state of Connecticut, Andy Mark, 18, asked Donfeld if Steele's figure was correct. Mark told us that Donfeld shot back, "Mr. Steele is a liar ... Facts like that often come from a moron." Another intern, David Goulet, 20, confirmed the "liar" quote, but recalled that Donfeld said Steele's reporting "was of a caliber that could be done by a moron."

Donfeld admitted he called Steele a "liar," a most uncommon term for a White House staffer to call a Republican Congressman. But he insisted he said only Steele was "stupid" for using hearsay data.

The hot-headed young Donfeld, in his new post as number two consultant to President Nixon on drugs, is not likely to endear himself with Congressmen who must handle his drug proposals by calling them liars.

Steele is a member of the House Foreign Affairs committee which deals in part with traffic in drugs to the U.S.

The raucous misbehavior of a top American diplomat during Vice President Agnew's recent visit to Kenya has created a behind-the-scenes uproar that has reached Washington's highest levels.

The errant diplomat is AID administrator in Kenya, Bert M. Tollefson, Jr., 41, an ex-corn lobbyist and Republican politico from South Dakota. His antics are colorfully detailed in a series of confidential State Department telegrams.

The American Ambassador to Kenya, Robinson McIlvaine, was so outraged that he fired off the blistering "eyes only" wires to Tollefson's boss, John A. Hannah, head of the Agency for International Development. We have obtained copies of McIlvaine's missives.

"I regret to inform you," McIlvaine wrote in one cable, "that Bert Tollefson blotted his copy book (diplomatic jargon for 'fouled up') so badly during the Vice President's visit as to raise serious question as to his suitability for service abroad. Indeed you may be hearing from the Vice President directly on the matter."

"The problem started with Bert's well-known pushiness and general lack of sensitivity and culminated in his getting sloshed at Treetops (a fancy lodge on the edge of the jungle), making passes at the Vice President's secretary and trying to drag her down the steps to meet an elephant at ground level ..."

The sequence of events that led up to this drunken climax, wrote McIlvaine, began when Tollefson was officially informed that "no Americans were invited to join the Vice President's group at Treetops. (Tollefson) came anyhow on his own and canvassed Kenyans for a bed in one of their rooms. In the end he talked someone out of a room to himself ..."

In the course of the evening, McIlvaine related, Tollefson "repeatedly interrupted" Kenyan officials who "were explaining animals" to the Vice President. "The owner of Treetops," the Ambassador wrote, "at one point asked me, 'Who is that jackass?' — pointing to Bert."

"The incident with the Vice President's secretary," continued McIlvaine, "took place in the small hours of the morning. According to her it took all her strength to get away from him ..."

Even Kenyan Ambassador to the U.S. Leonard Kibinge, who was there, commented on Tollefson's "condition," McIlvaine said.

"The next morning, Bert slept through the departure at 0900 and when he did awake took the remaining Secret Service car to Nyeri leaving them stranded and furious ... A car had to be sent the 100 miles up to Nyeri to bring Bert back ..."

The whole affair, McIlvaine concluded, had substantiated his misgivings about Tollefson's performance during his three months as head of the AID program in Kenya.

"Prior to bringing out his family I developed serious questions about his judgment. He reinforced this impression by sending me a telegram from Washington ... implying that the Vice President wanted him to co-host the reception we were giving in the Vice President's honor. Naturally I checked this with the Vice President and he was incredulous."

"What to do about it? One might conclude that the whole affair would be a fairly penetrating lesson to him. But then I am not sure that people with such thick hides ever learn anything ..."

"I can, of course, live with the situation but will have to spend a lot of time riding herd and wonder whether all that effort is warranted in support of 'Peter's Principle.'" (The Peter Principle is a tongue-in-cheek theory which holds that everyone eventually rises to his own level of incompetence.)

When asked about the incident, AID Administrator Hannah refused comment except to call Tollefson "a very respectable fellow" and to inquire where we obtained the confidential cables. They had come to him "highly restricted, hand-carried and sealed," he huffed to my associate Joseph Spear.

Ambassador McIlvaine's eyewitness account, Hannah maintained, was only an "allegation." Hannah had dispatched Tollefson to London, he said, to discuss the matter with Samuel Adams, AID's African Administrator — a fact which is confirmed by a subsequent telegram we have obtained.

Reached in Nairobi, Tollefson denied the Ambassador's charges and said they were based on a complete misunderstanding. "He had only two drinks," he said, and took the Vice President's secretary to meet the elephant "at her request." He blamed the imbroglio on unnamed "Democratic holdovers" in the Foreign Service.

"Pigeon Milk"

Degeneration of the cells which line the crop produces in pigeons a thick, cheesy secretion called "pigeon milk." On this, the young birds are fed until they are old enough to eat the seed diet of the adults.

"There is no man better versed on the economy than Mr. Galbraith and we're proud to have him aboard."

"Mr. Buckley said he was adding several new departments to the magazine. One would have to do with urban affairs and the plight of the blacks in the inner cities. He has persuaded his good friend Mayor John Lindsay to act as a contributing editor. He has also signed Dr. Spock to write a column on raising children."

"The National Review" will hit hard at the reactionary forces in this country that are holding America back," Mr. Buckley said.

"Our targets will range from J. Edgar Hoover to John Mitchell to Spiro Agnew. We will attack the oil interests, the gun lobbies and the military-industrial complex. This I promise my readers, or I will go back to Yale."

Minh Key To Viet Election

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA News Analyst

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The most important, unanswered question about the Vietnamese election this fall is whether Gen. Duong Van Minh (Big Minh) will run for the presidency. Publicly, he has been noncommittal, evasive, probably undecided.

Cromley

A friend in Saigon sends word that Minh has privately asked him to help in securing the signatures needed to run.

The man Minh appealed to is in a position to deliver. He'll do so if Minh gives him the most absolute assurances that, once a candidate, he will not withdraw in midstream. Minh probably is ready to give those assurances.

Minh's decision is significant. If he runs there will be a genuine contest for the presidency.

A Minh candidacy would, because of Big Minh's prominence, go a considerable way toward insuring a fairly honest election. It would thus encourage the candidacies of a number of outstanding but hesitant potential members of the lower house of the South Vietnamese legislature.

The present lower house includes a considerable number of incompetent, venal men whose votes can be bought. The encouragement of better men is necessary for the future of legislative government in Vietnam.

Vietnam specialists in the U.S. government are almost uniformly convinced, therefore, that a contest between Minh and President Thieu could build a confidence in South Vietnam that would significantly add to the ability of that nation to survive without American ground forces.

If this analysis is correct, such a political contest could lead to more rapid U.S. troop withdrawals.

The experts think the Minh candidacy could be a more important factor in securing the viability of South Vietnam than a series of major military victories. And this feeling is shared by those who personally hope that President Thieu will be re-elected.

As one state department official put it in a private conversation, "right now, an honest, spirited, free election, with no U.S. interference, is more important to Vietnam and to us than who wins that election."

Another official says bluntly, "A no-contest, with Thieu winning by default, or Thieu winning against some nonentity, would be a disaster. In that event, we might as well fold our tents. It would be all over."

Today's Thoughts

Formerly, when you did not know God, you were in bondage to beings that by nature are no gods, but now that you have come to know God, or rather to be known by God, how can you turn back again to the weak and beggarly elemental spirits whose slaves want to be once more? — Galatians 4:8, 9.

Character is a by-product; it is produced in the great manufacture of daily duty. — Woodrow Wilson.

If I speak in the tongues of men and of angels, but have not love, I am a noisy gong or a clanging cymbal. — I Cor. 13:1.

Every good act is charity. A man's true wealth hereafter is the good that he does in this world to his fellows. — Mohammed, spiritual leader of the Arab world.

Any Number Can Play 'Secrets' Hoaxes

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — Last week the most unbelievable event in American journalism took place. William F. Buckley Jr., the distinguished conservative columnist, television star, lecturer and selfless defender of the rich, pulled a hoax on the American public.

In his National Review magazine Mr. Buckley published what were purported to be "top secret" documents on the Vietnamese war. The documents, which were cooked up by his staff, read like the real thing and all the wire services, the major newspapers and NBC and CBS reported them as legitimate news.

Mr. Buckley revealed the next day in a press conference, that the reason for the hoax was to demonstrate that forged documents would be widely accepted as genuine, provided their content was plausible.

Now for those of us who, up to this time, have believed every word Mr. Buckley has written and every pearl that has dropped from his lips, the news that he would be part of a hoax on the American people came as a shocker.

We conservatives don't like hoaxes. We like our news on knee jerk Doves, bleeding heart politicians and limousine liberals straight. Credibility is the greatest weapon in our battle against the forces of socialism, welfare coddling and the conviction of Lt. Calley.

The danger of someone getting away with a hoax in this country is that other people can perpetrate hoaxes, too, and their motives may not be as sincere as Mr. Buckley's.

Suppose I printed a press release which I said I received from the National Review.

"William F. Buckley Jr. announced today he was shaking up the staff of the National Review on the advice of a top secret study he had ordered done by Norman Mailer."

"At the country house of his good friend, Gore Vidal, where he is spending the weekend, Mr. Buckley said he was firing his sister Priscilla Buckley as managing editor, not because of nepotism, (Mr. Buckley has been urging Congress to pass a bill making nepotism legal), but because of the recent articles in the National Review criticizing Che Guevara."

"The Guevara was a dear friend of mine," Mr. Buckley said, "and as long as I own the National Review he will be treated with respect."

"As his new managing editor Mr. Buckley has selected Arthur Schlesinger Jr., the historian and an old friend of the family."

"Arthur will bring to the National Review the liberal social consciousness that we have been striving for in our magazine," Mr. Buckley said. "His position on the Vietnamese war, welfare and law and order coincide with my own philosophy and when he speaks for himself he will be speaking for me."

"Mr. Buckley also announced he was proud to have persuaded John Kenneth Galbraith to write a weekly column on economics with particular emphasis on wage and price controls."

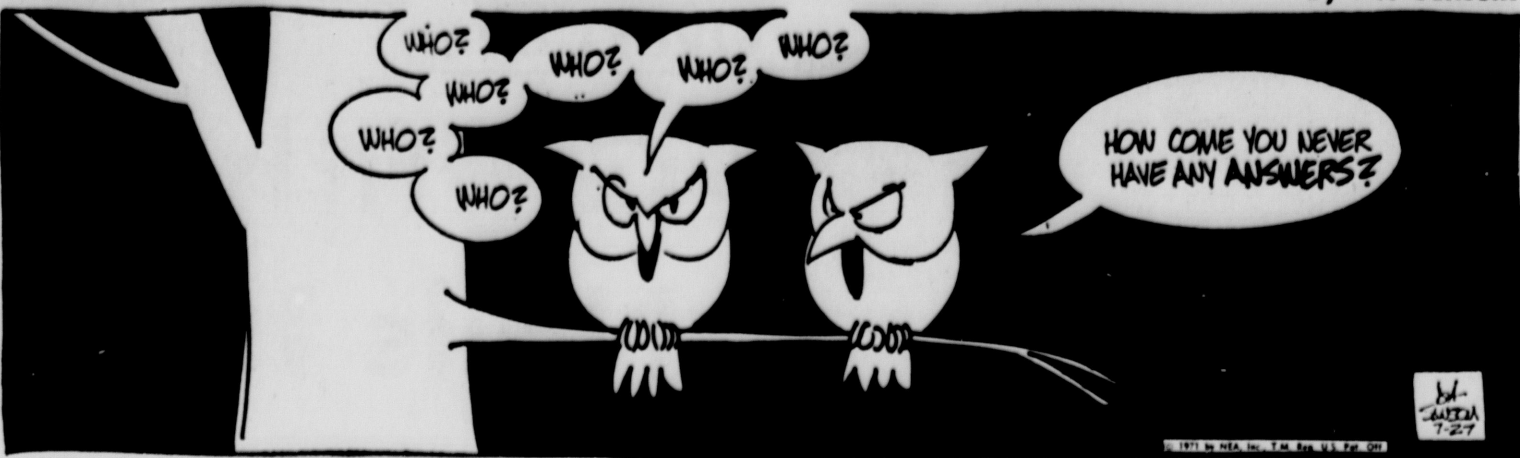

"There is no man better versed on the economy than Mr. Galbraith and we're proud to have him aboard."

"Mr. Buckley said he was adding several new departments to the magazine. One would have to do with urban affairs and the plight of the blacks in the inner cities. He has persuaded his good friend Mayor John Lindsay to act as a contributing editor. He has also signed Dr. Spock to write a column on raising children."

"The National Review" will hit hard at the reactionary forces in this country that are holding America back," Mr. Buckley said.

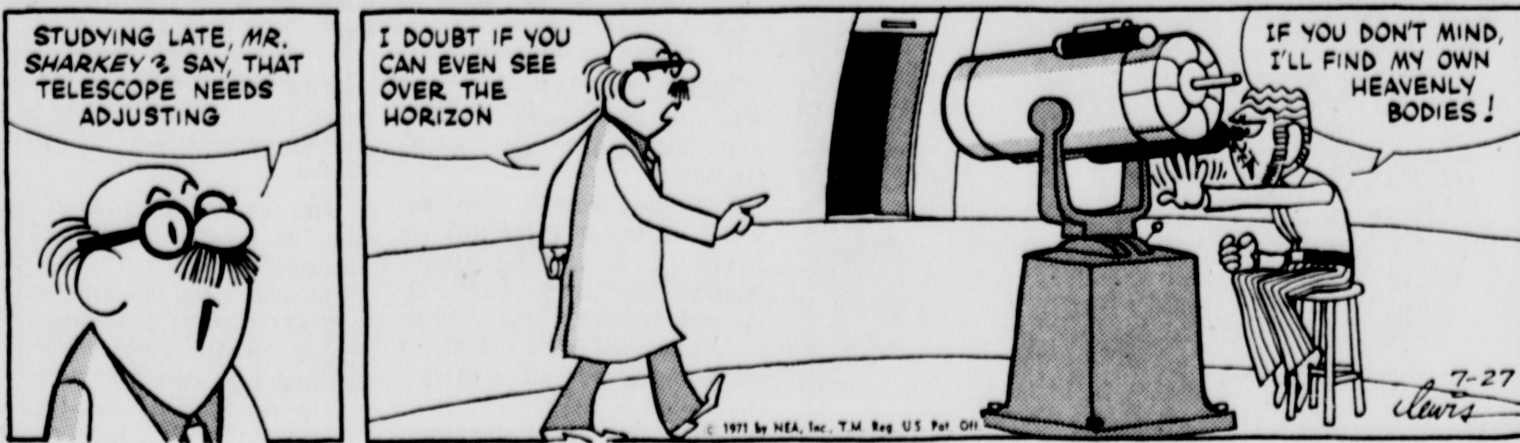

"Our targets will range from J. Edgar Hoover to John Mitchell to Spiro Agnew. We will attack the oil interests, the gun lobbies and the military-industrial complex. This I promise my readers, or I will go back to Yale."

North's jump raise to four hearts did not show a very big hand. What it did show was a rather minimum opening spade bid that had good heart support.

South did have a big hand and was fully justified in checking for aces and then contracting the slam after he found that one of those choice cards was missing.

West decided to open a trump. East took his ace and returned the suit.

South won in dummy; looked things over and commented, "This could be very embarrassing. I can surely make the hand if I know what line of play to adopt. I guess I had better find it."

South finally decided to play for a reasonable spade break, so he cashed the ace and king of spades. After that it was a simple matter to ruff a spade; cash the ace of diamonds; ruff a diamond and ruff another spade to set up the last one in dummy.

Send $1 for JACOBY MODERN book to: "Win at Bridge," (c/o this newspaper), P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

South proceeded to draw West's last trump with his own last trump while discarding one low club from dummy; discard dummy's other low club on the king of diamonds and make the last three tricks with the ace-king of clubs and the last spade.

Leads Cards Over Mets

Torre's Bat Stays Torrid

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Torre is on a diet, but makes up for it by feeding on National League pitchers.

"I try to stay hungry at the plate," says the hot-hitting St. Louis Cardinals third baseman.

While Torre has squeezed off pounds, he continues to fatten his batting average. He laced three more hits Monday night to pace the Cardinals over the

New York Mets 4-0 behind Bob Gibson's five-hitter.

"I'm more relaxed at the plate," says Torre. "I feel good. And the fact that I'm slimmer and playing only one position this year—has helped me."

Torre may be feeling better, but he's certainly making life miserable for the other teams. His latest explosion continued his torrid streak of 12 hits in the last 18 appearances and ballooned his league-leading batting average to .368.

"I'll take the hitting streaks now," says Torre. "There may be some bad days coming in August and September. When you're going for that high batting average, what kills you are the long hitting slumps, like 0-for-10, or 0-for-15."

"Knock on wood, but I haven't run into them yet this year."

Torre was always a good hitter, he admits, but never thought he'd be at his current euphoric level.

"It's fun when you're hitting like this," said Torre. "It becomes work when you have to fight for that one hit in a game to keep your batting average from hitting rock-bottom."

Torre, who shaved off 25 pounds* two years ago on a crash diet of water and protein, hit the peak of his career last season when he wound up second in the league with a .325 average.

He's maintained his weight in the high 190s this season and played only third base "where I don't have to think like I did when I was catching."

Torre did his thing right away Monday night, ripping Ray Sadecki's pitch into the left-field corner for a two-run double in the first inning that boosted his RBI to 84, second in the league.

Then Gibson tripled and scored on Lou Brock's bunt in the second and the Cardinals added their final run in the ninth on Matty Alou's home run into the right field seats at Shea Stadium. The shutout was the second in a row for the Cardinals' right-hander, who has pitched 21 straight scoreless innings.

Sweet Springs, LaMonte Win

SWEET SPRINGS — In Junior Tournament action Monday night here, Sweet Springs won over Green Ridge, 12-1, and Malta Bend downed LaMonte, 16-1.

Sunday night action saw Marshall post a 9-3 win over Slater in a game that was played in Marshall. Houstonia won by forfeit over Knob Noster.

Action resumes in the tourney Thursday night in Sweet Springs with Marshall playing Houstonia in the opener, with Sweet Springs and Malta Bend paired in the late contest.

The finals of the tournament will be played Friday.

Dave Robinson Injured

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs listed a pair of casualties and the signing of a free agent linebacker as their practice sessions continued today at their pro football training camp at William Jewell College.

Coach Hank Stram disclosed that tight end candidate Dave Robinson, a fourth round draft choice, suffered a fracture in his lower back. He is expected to be out of action for four to five weeks. Running back Johnny Pleasant sustained a pulled hamstring, and the seriousness of his injury was not immediately determined.

Joining the club is linebacker Wayne "Mac" McClure, a 6-1, 230-pounder from Mississippi who was with the Chiefs in their 1968 training camp and played with the Cincinnati Bengals in 1970 before being released on waivers.

Stram reported that wide receiver Jimmy Hines, hospitalized prior to the team's first practice session as a result of high blood pressure, had been released from the hospital and was expected to work out later today.

Defending Champions Return

Brookfield, Ill., the upset winners in last year's Central Sectional Senior Babe Ruth Tournament at Liberty Park Stadium, will return to defend their title in this year's event.

Brookfield, Ill., upset the Storm Club of Mt. Healthy, Ohio, last year, 2-0, to win the tournament and went on to play in the 1970 Senior Babe Ruth World Series in Wellington, Kan.

Brookfield is one of five state champions already determined for the 1971 Central Sectional Tournament, which opens Friday at Liberty Park Stadium. Other state champs competing in the event determined over the past weekend include Friedley, Minn., the Southwest Boys Club of Wichita, Kan., and Ottumwa, Iowa. Groose Pointe, Mich., won a berth in the tourney last week.

The Missouri, Indiana and Ohio representatives have not yet been determined.

Sedalia is entered in the tourney, but are not the state champions; they are entitled to enter a team in the tourney being the host city.

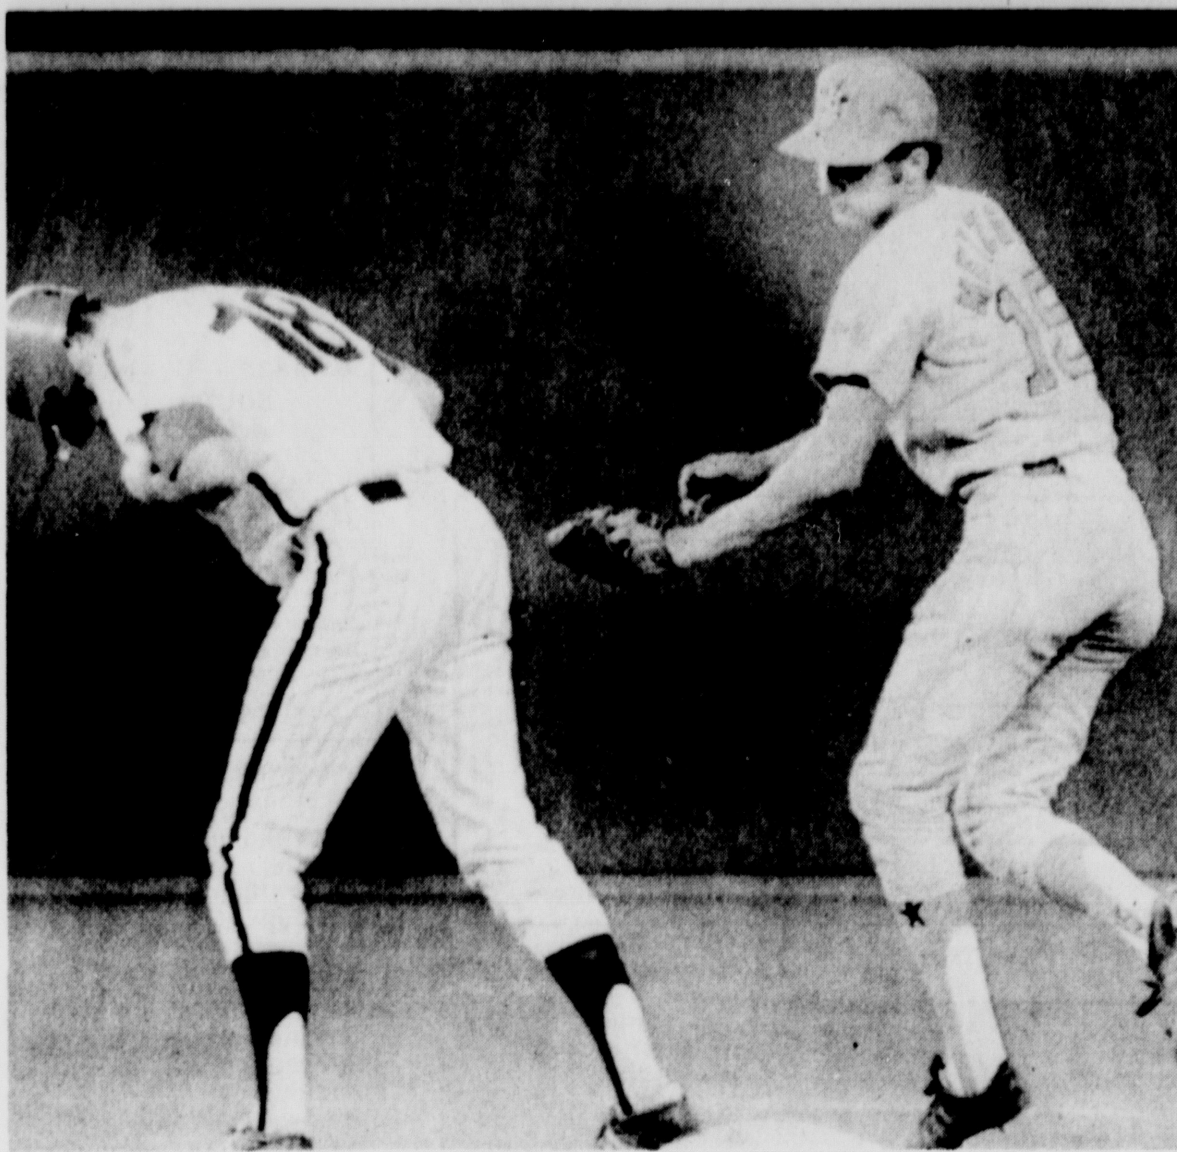

Friedley, Minn., along with Brookfield, Ill., played in the tournament last year.

Michigan State Champions

Metzger Misses Tag

Houston shortstop Roger Metzger (right) fails to make the tag in time on a pick off play at second base on Philadelphia's Bobby Pfeil in the fifth inning of play, Monday night in Philadelphia. It took 15 innings for the Astros to subdue the Phillies, 7-4. (UPI)

Strange Hazards On Walvis Course

WALVIS BAY, South Africa (AP) — Divots can be replaced with a shovel and a bulldozer trims the edge of the fairways at the Walvis Bay Golf Club. Some of the world's most ardent golf-lovers suffer their sports on what looks like an oil-stained patch of desert. In fact it is an oil-stained patch of the Namib desert.

Hazards include sandstorms, shifting dunes and low flying birds on their landing approach to guano collection platforms. There are browns instead of greens and some players wear goggles to combat dust and sun glare.

It's par 72 for 18 holes over 6,556 yards. A local golfer went around in 71 for the course record. Veteran South African pro Bobby Locke, more accustomed to well-manicured grass layouts, could do no better than 82.

Walvis Bay is a remote fishing port, a South African enclave surrounded by the territory of South West Africa on the inhospitable Skeleton Coast. The South Atlantic Ocean is on one side of town and the bleak Namib Desert on the other three sides.

The golf course sits between a military camp and the high coastal sand dunes. A bulldozer, special sand fences and a coating of oil helps keep the "waaisand," or shifting sand, more or less in check.

The course resembles a big flat sand trap. Bunkers are marked by four red wooden pegs to differentiate the sand inside from the rest of the sand.

White pegs define water hazards. They actually manage to get such liquid for weekend tournaments by digging between the white pegs until some underground water seeps into the holes. Annual rainfall averages less than two inches.

The club's pride is a single grass green which requires almost constant watering. It must be fine-combed occasionally to remove mica particles deposited by blowing sand which could injure the brave blades of grass.

Except for the showpiece grass one, greens are made of sifted sand mixed with oil and then raked in a circular pattern around the hole.

When a player lands on the brown, he marks his ball, picks it up and uses a round metal bar fitted to a long handle to smooth a path in the raked sand from where he landed to the cup.

There are about 90 members, says Club Secretary Chris du Pleassiss, "but most are only social members." A hard core of 30 fanatics are the source of local golf legend.

We are told over and over to sweep a long iron off the grass, but that's misleading advice. Jay says he tries just to "nip the ball and burn a little grass."

He tries to keep the blade square to the line the ball will travel, and isn't conscious of hitting down on the ball. But he doesn't sweep it up, either. He plays the ball a little forward in his stance, and takes a slight divot.

Over Cohen

Griffith Nails 10th Straight

NEW YORK (AP) — "There was a lot of pressure on me to win this fight," said Emile Griffith.

But the former five-time world champion came through to chalk up his 10th consecutive triumph by completely outclassing Nessim "Max" Cohen of France Monday night at Madison Square Garden in a 10-round middleweight fight.

"There was lots of pressure," said the 33-year-old Griffith, who had already signed for a title fight against middleweight champion Carlos Monzon in Buenos Aires, Sept. 18—but he had to beat Cohen.

"I knew I had a chance to try again and I wanted the opportunity to win the title again," said Griffith.

"Cohen is a good strong fighter but I really couldn't fight my fight against him because I was afraid of getting hurt."

"That's all I needed. A serious cut and the Monzon fight would have been off," said the former holder of the welterweight title three times and the middleweight throne twice.

The fight, the live main attraction before the 13,500 fans who paid $154,071, saw Muhammad Ali defeat Jimmy Ellis in a heavyweight theater-television bout afterwards.

Griffith, the No. 1 contender by the World Boxing Association increased his career record to 71 victories in 81 outings. Cohen, a 29-year-old Moroccan-born boxer, is now 20-8-5.

The French champion and the No. 8 rated middleweight, acquired a slight cut under his right eye in the opening round and another cut under his left eye in the fifth round, while absorbing a decisive defeat.

The Associated Press scored it 7-2-1 for Griffith. Judges Jack Gordon and Artie Aieda had it 6-4 and 9-1 while referee Jimmy Devlin scored it 7-3, all for Griffith.

Nausler Is Back On Field

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Denny Nausler, tackled by a bolt of lightning a year ago, is battling to regain his form as a Southern Colorado State tight end—without even looking over his shoulder at the foe that nearly killed him.

The 6-foot-3, 215-pound senior was running a pass pattern in practice last August when lightning knocked him senseless. SCS trainer Fred Oglesby had to pound on Nausler's chest to get his heart beating again.

The shock did plenty of damage. It burned out the nerve endings in his legs, virtually paralyzing them for several months. The doctors say he'll never regain the reflexes in his ankles.

After 2½ weeks in Parkview Hospital at Pueblo, Colo., Nausler was back in class—until residual damage surfaced three weeks later.

Cataracts developed, leaving him all but blind in his right eye. The doctors advised against surgery to remove them because, they say, a contact sport like football could cause a detached retina.

The eye problems knocked Nausler out of school for several more months—but hardly knocked out his will to get back on the field.

"I don't remember a thing about what happened except that I was running a pass pattern and the next thing I knew I was lying in a hospital bed," he recalled.

"But the doctor told me it's good it worked out that way, 'cause I didn't feel anything, so I don't know what to be afraid of. And he's right."

"I've run in the rain and there have been a couple of times when there was lightning, but it doesn't bother me."

"What bothered me at first was my vision—I couldn't judge distances—but I'm getting used to seeing with one eye now," Nausler said.

Ali Eyes Frazier After TKO Over Ellis

HOUSTON (AP) — Muhammad Ali surprised even himself with glimpses of the past Monday night but his sights are on the future today and the future is Joe Frazier.

"I'm still in training right now," Ali said. "I'll be fighting again in six weeks," he added, only minutes after he battered Jimmy Ellis helplessly into the ropes for a technical knockout in the 12th round of their heavyweight 12-round bout in the Astrodome.

"I can't let up now," Ali said. "I'll be running four miles again tomorrow."

Ali certainly proved he was ready for phase two of his plan for a rematch with heavy-weight champion Frazier. He wanted three fights before the rematch, and he danced a step closer in defeating Ellis.

He also made a believer of Ellis, Ali's former sparring partner and the former World Boxing Association champion.

Ellis said Ali was faster now than when he lost the heavy-weight title to Frazier March 8. "The man is an athlete," Ellis said. "He takes care of himself. All he needs is work. You can't lose 3½ years and have an easy time coming back."

Before a live audience of 31,947 and almost a million more in closed circuit television, Ali danced the famed Ali shuffle throughout the 12 rounds.

"I can't explain the footwork," Ali said. "I was feeling strong at the end of the fight."

Ali also said he wasn't bothered by his weight of 220½ for the fight, the heaviest of his career.

"It might have slowed me down a little, but in the long run it didn't hurt me," Ali said. "I danced all the rounds and I don't feel tired now."

Ali said it was all a matter of his mental preparation concerning the difference in his approaches in fighting Ellis and Frazier.

"I didn't plan to dance against Frazier," Ali said. "But tonight, I was thinking about dancing."

A barrage of lefts and rights by Ali in the final round sent Ellis reeling around the ring, and he almost went down twice.

Ellis was helpless on the ropes when referee Jay Edson stopped the fight at 2:10 of the 12th round. Ali stood over Ellis several seconds before Edson stopped it, with Ellis dangling.

Aroooo, Aroooo, Aroooo . . .

These bellowing hounds got their practice Monday night in the new coon dog water race facility on the Missouri State Fairgrounds. The hounds race by swimming after a caged raccoon, which is pulled along the water's surface in a floating cage. The department, which will be offered for the first time at the 1971 Missouri State Fair, features the Missouri State Fair Coon Dog Championship Water Race at 8 p.m., Aug. 27. Superintendent R. L. Hawkins said that nearly 2,000 dogs are expected to be entered. (Democrat-Capitol Photo)

Football Roundup

LeVias Swapped To the Chargers

By EARL GERHEIM
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Ed Hughes assumed the head coaching chores at Houston he promised to strengthen the Oilers' offensive and defensive front lines.

Keeping his vow, he placed fleet-footed wide receiver Jerry LeVias on the trading block and received two mammoth bruisers—6-8, 225-pound Ron Billingsley and 6-8 300-pound Gene Ferguson—from the San Diego Chargers Monday.

LeVias, a 5-foot-10 170-pounder whose ball-snaring prowess made him a big hit with Houston fans, led the Oilers in scoring receptions for both of his pro seasons.

Billingsley, who was San Diego's top draft pick in 1967 and had been a starting defensive right tackle, is expected to help bolster the Oilers defensive wall.

Ferguson, a three-year pro veteran, has seen action as both an offensive and defensive tackle for San Diego and probably will play on offense for Houston.

The Green Bay Packers acquired veteran signal-caller Gary Lane in an effort to bolster their quarterback strength. Battle-scarred Bart Starr, the 37-year-old who quarterbacked the Packers to four world championships, is slated to undergo surgery Wednesday in an effort to correct his ailing arm.

Other Packer quarterbacks include Frank Patrick, rookie Scott Hunter and 39-year-old Zeke Bratkowski, who is attempting to shake off the rust after spending two seasons as an assistant coach.

Elsewhere, Oakland Raiders tacklers tackle Bob Brown, considered by some people such a nasty guy they hung a "Mr. Bad Guy of the Southland" tag on him, was busy passing on some tricks of the trade to a rookie.

"I've never done that before," Brown said after he took 6-3 250-pound Horace Jones in tow and ushered him through drills.

The Buffalo Bills stressed their aerial game—both offense and defense. Coach Harvey Johnson, who took over as head field boss last week, alternated quarterbacks Dennis Shaw, Jim Harris and Gusti Underwood. Shaw was the National Football League's 1972 rookie-of-the-year.

In an effort to develop broader understanding about the over-all defensive picture, Cleveland Browns Coach Nick Skorich switched his backfield defensive corps around during practice.

Veteran safety Ernie Kellerman had a stint as a cornerback and termed exposure to another position as "great."

"It gives the safeties a chance to get the feel of man-for-man coverage," Skorich said.

Sets Season Mark

VERNON, N.Y. (AP) — Hilarius Way set a North American season's record for 2-year-old pacers Monday night in the $11,800 first division of the Andy Kerr Memorial at Vernon Downs.

Owned by Clarence Gaines of Serburne, N.Y., the horse paced the mile in 2:00 3-5, outdistancing Lord Hanover by 3½ lengths.

Jeff White Gets Chance in Liberty

LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — A rookie kicking specialist aspiring to make the Kansas City Chiefs is the National Football League's version of "The Impossible Dream." Right?

This is the American Conference club that has Jan Stenerud, whose extra point attempts invariably provide fans with souvenir footballs and whose booming kickoffs permit even lead-footed linemen time to surround a would-be returner.

Topping that, Kansas City has Jerrel Wilson, whose punts, some claim, go so high there is ice on the ball when it descends to earth.

Either, diehard fans boast, could substitute as a launcher for a NASA moon shot.

So why did Jeff White write asking for a tryout? Well, White thought, why not? Passed over by the professional teams in the draft, he had written the other 25 clubs in the NFL.

That casting of bread upon the waters yielded two replies. The Denver Broncos thanked White for writing. Kansas City Coach Hank Stram said he certainly was interested.

This is the same Stram who toured Europe a couple of years ago to look at soccer-style kickers who might be utilized in the American game.

The junket produced two kickers who have played for professional teams. Now here was White, with the same style, who could be scrutinized for little more than the cost of a letter.

In 1970 at the University of Texas-El Paso, White was successful on 11 of 18 field goal attempts — one from 53 yards out. The Bronxville, N.Y., high-schooler hit one from 67 yards away in practice.

Impressive performances notwithstanding, what does White think about trying to make the squad that has Stenerud and Wilson?

"They've got my mind locked in on what I can do best," he said. "I've pushed them in competition. I'm not behind them in ability. But I have no game experience in the pros."

He said in practice the other day, on the campus of William Jewell College in Liberty, he punted the ball 76 yards but Wilson "boomed one for 83 yards."

"That means he is seven yards better than I am right now."

White thinks Stenerud is the best placekicker in football and no one can beat him out. Although, he said, Stenerud "had a couple of bad days recently and I kicked better than he did."

"That brought up my spirits."

Regardless of high spirits, White is realistic about his chances with the Chiefs and besting Stenerud or Wilson.

"If I can't beat them out I can learn from them," said White of his rivals.

"If I'm good enough to kick with them," White reasons, "I'm good enough to play in this league."

"I could wind up with another team but I'd rather stay here."

O'Connors Softball Finishes in Third

CLARKSBURG — The Mike O'Connor softball team of Sedalia was eliminated by Stover Carpet of Jefferson City in the Clarkburg Softball Tournament, 1-0, Monday night. Jerry Howell picked up the win for Stover Carpet, while Fran Barker was charged with the loss.

Boonville whipped Stover Carpet for the championship, however, 5-4, with Jack Parkhurst picking up the victory; Howell was the loser.

O'Connors advanced to the semifinals by beating Schultz's IGA of Jefferson City, 3-0, Sunday night on the shutout pitching of John Fiene and picked up third place in the tournament.

O'Connors now stands at 46-6 in overall play for the season, while their record in league play shows only one loss against 29 wins.

The locals next action will be Wednesday night in Marshall against Marshall Dairy Queen at 7:30 p.m.

Attack Election System And East St. Louis Area

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Officials of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District and the East St. Louis elections system came under sharp attack from the St. Clair County Grand Jury Monday.

In one report, the grand jury said it found evidence of "graft in the payroll process" of the levee district. In another, it said voters in some St. Clair County elections are intimidated and frightened and have lost respect for the electoral system.

State's Atty. Robert H. Rice said another grand jury will be impaneled Aug. 18 and will conduct a "continuing inquiry" into levee district operations.

"The evidence is conclusive that one need not work for the district in order to be paid by the district," the grand jury reported.

"The means exist for the trustees and employees to be able to treat and dispose of the property of taxpayers as though it were private property," the grand jury said of the levee district.

"Meager records are kept by the district time-keeper and payroll checks are approved and issued on the presumption that if an employee is seen any one day of the month, he probably worked every day of the month," said the report.

"This policy is conducive to fraud on the taxpayers and should cease," the report said. "Civil suits should be instituted for the recovery of the moneys paid as wages to those who did not work."

As one safeguard against the alleged graft, the grand jury report recommended that the levee district buy a time clock and require all hourly employees to use it.

The report criticizing the East St. Louis Board of Election Commissioners said: "The problem in this area appears to be a lack of knowledge or understanding of the responsibilities of the office or neglect of the duty of enforcement of statutory procedures of elections."

The grand jury said election judges have no control over the polling places, and that people without proper credentials are allowed to remain in the polling places.

"Precinct committeemen and other politicians end up controlling the polling places, with the judges abiding by their decisions . . . Improper inclusion and exclusion of ballots from the vote count depriving the people and candidates of a fair election exist," the grand jury report said.

Horse Vaccination Work Progressing

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Vaccination of horses against Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis—VEE—is 85 per cent complete in Texas and virtually finished in Oklahoma, the federal emergency headquarters here said Monday.

Vaccination also continues today in Louisiana, New Mexico and Arkansas, and should start within a week in California, Arizona, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida.

Meanwhile, the Texas Animal Health Commission said the brain disease, which swept into Texas June 29 from Mexico, had killed 1,315 horses and sickened another 1,874.

The Texas Health Department said one new case in humans was confirmed over the weekend, bringing the total human cases in Texas to 23. The department said there are 120 other suspected cases in human beings.

One case of VEE had been reported outside of Texas, in an unidentified 33-year-old employee of the U.S. Public Health Service laboratory in Fort Collins, Colo. Health Department officials said this man apparently caught the disease while working in Texas earlier this month in connection with the VEE outbreak.

So far, confirmed cases in horses have been confined to 11 Texas counties, a federal emergency center spokesman said.

Airplanes continued to spray coastal areas Monday to kill the mosquitoes which carry the disease. They will spray more than eight million acres before the project is completed in early August, a federal official said.

The federal emergency center spokesman estimated Monday that 949,950 horses have been vaccinated in Texas since the drive started, along with 138,392 in Oklahoma, 101,898 in Louisiana, 15,904 in Arkansas and 14,743 in New Mexico.

The new vaccination program in six more states will give blanket vaccination coverage of 11 states with a horse population estimated at 2.23 million, federal officials said.

Welfare Reform Hearings Opened

May Key Speaker For Club

The inventive history of refrigeration and air conditioning was discussed by Kester May at the Monday noon meeting of the Rotary Club. The speaker was introduced by Audrey Case, July program chairman.

President Donald Barnes presided over the meeting and the invocation was given by the Rev. Tom Hall. Club singing was led by Jim Edwards with Mrs. Lillian Maynard as accompanist.

It was announced that a need exists for homes to be furnished to visiting baseball players who will be here for the sectional Babe Ruth Tournament Friday through Aug. 4.

Visiting Rotarians, James F. Postwait and Louie Sosebee, Warrensburg, and Darrell Ford, York, Pa., were introduced by Dick Lehmer. Other guests were Waymon Hofheins and Charles Lippert.

Schedule Services For Recording Star

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Funeral services are scheduled Wednesday for Cliff "Ukulele Ike" Edwards, a top recording star during the 1920s and early 1930s.

Edwards, 76, died Saturday after a long illness. He appeared in 107 movies during the 1930s and later became the voice of Jiminy Cricket in Walt Disney's movie "Pinocchio."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long opened hearings on President Nixon's welfare reform program today, declaring the Senate Finance Committee intends to discard key guaranteed-wage provisions.

The Louisiana Democrat, chairman of the committee that will draft a Senate welfare measure, said his panel will support "a welfare program rather than a welfare-expansion program."

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Elliot L. Richardson and Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson were leadoff witnesses in the hearings that will continue intermittently for weeks.

The House already has passed a bill tying welfare overhaul to a Social Security benefit increase for 27.4 million Americans.

The House bill carries the minimum income provision the administration proposed, insuring $2,400 a year to a family of four, and allows the family head to earn $720 without a loss in benefits.

It also would expand welfare eligibility to cover the working poor.

The Senate committee stalled, then killed, the welfare bill in the last Congress. This time, Long said, the committee will send the Senate a bill.

But even before Richardson and Hodgson could begin arguing the administration's case, Long declared flatly the terms approved by the House will not survive.

"The majority of the committee is ready to vote for a workfare program rather than a welfare-expansion program, a program that provides a guaranteed work opportunity rather than the guaranteed income that the administration bill would provide for doing nothing at all," Long said. "The committee is willing to support legislation to help the working poor—provided that they are working, as well as poor."

"We are not willing to provide a guaranteed annual income to an able-bodied individual who is unwilling to do anything useful for that income," the chairman said.

Long called the administration program "extensive, expensive and expansive," saying it would double, to 26 million, the number of Americans eligible for federally-aided welfare benefits.

As bad as the present welfare system is, he said, the administration measure would wind up "making it a lot worse."

Monday, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce announced a study it sponsored showed the Nixon plan would discourage relief recipients from working. The study, by Prof. Alfred J. Tella and his wife, Dorothy—both Georgetown University economists—concluded persons with non-wage incomes tend to quit work after reaching a certain level of income.
